

Apprenticeship Opportunity

LA ROCHE-POSAY
LABORATOIRE DERMATOLOGIQUE

Hey there,

Do you want to contribute to offering a better life for sensitive skin, join a team of real experts, delivering digital solutions and autonomously managing projects while putting skin experts (pharmacists and dermo-advisors) in the focus of your attention?

Then this apprenticeship might just be what you are looking for!

The International Education team of La Roche Posay is recruiting their next apprentice to take on the challenge.

What will your missions be?

- Creating training material for the launch of the new product range for 2020 and 2021, helping to onboard pharmacists and dermo-advisors
- Updating the existing, transversal training material
- Creating digital content (news & videos)
- Participating in the organisation of international training seminars
- Assure a smooth collaboration with the countries and other stakeholders, such as the marketing teams, the R&I department, the medical communications, ...

So what are we looking for?

In order to be considered for this position (and before applying), please make sure that you fulfill all of the following elements:

- Currently enrolled in a Master's program (Bac+4/5) with a valid apprenticeship agreement (« convention de stage »)
- Double competence: Scientific (pharmacist or engineer) plus business school
- Creativity
- Rigor
- Good english skills (written and oral)
